Please join us for the 2015 Emerging Learning Design Conference at Montclair State University. Keynote speaker Dr. Richard Halverson, Professor of Educational Leadership and Policy Analysis in the UW-Madison School of Education, will speak on “7 Technological Changes that are Reshaping Teaching and Learning.”

Sponsored by Montclair State University Office of the Provost and The New Media Consortium (NMC.org), the Emerging Learning Design Conference showcases innovation while engaging in a vibrant and dynamic discourse regarding pedagogy and how technology can better enhance or transform it.
